

Americans, N. Koreans Clash Along Border

By CONRAD FINK
Associated Press Staff Writer
U.S. FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION FRONT, KOREA (AP)—Thirteen American soldiers fought off seven grenade-hurling North Korean raiders today in the longest clash in eight days of fresh action on the Korean front.

Five Americans suffered scratches from grenade fragments in the two-hour battle, fought in pre-dawn darkness. There were no known Communist casualties. The Communist North Koreans used whistles like peasant calls to guide their attack. They struck at an American outpost in a narrow finger of the demilitarized zone that was a blood battleground in the 1950-53 Korean War.

The North Koreans hurled a barrage of grenades at the American outpost set up about 1,000 yards east of where a Communist patrol last week ambushed three Americans in a jeep, killing two and wounding the third.

The spot is 13 miles from Panmunjom, where the U.N. command warned North Korea it would invite its own destruction if it failed to halt attacks south of the border dividing North and South Korea.

A U.N. command spokesman said today there were no reports of fighting elsewhere along the 151-mile Korean front.

The commander of the besieged group, Capt. Jerry Scott of Ada, Okla., said the Communist patrol leader apparently directed his soldiers with whistles sounding like peasant calls.

This correspondent was in a battle position on a nearby hill when Scott's outpost was attacked. "Pheasants" whistled throughout the area but Scott and his men were the only ones hit during the night.

Asians Agree to Work Together

MANILA (AP)—The leaders of Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines ended their summit meeting today with a pledge to work together for peace and progress in Southeast Asia.

In a solemn ceremony at the Philippine Foreign Ministry, officials signed agreements designed to bring the three states closer together and solve the Malaysia dispute.

One agreement presented a detailed outline of instructions to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant on how to ascertain the wishes of the people of North Borneo and Sarawak concerning Malaysia.

The two British territories are scheduled to join Singapore and Malaysia in the Malaysia Federation Aug. 31.

Tourists to Be Told Hope Story

The Chamber of Commerce is making final preparations this week for its first major tourist promotion. The goal, as announced by Bill Tolleson, committee chairman, is to hand out several hundred cards that tell the "Hope Story" as to what is grown and manufactured in the Hope area and to offer a slice of watermelon to at least 1,200 visitors on these three days, August 12-14.

Hope civic clubs, the High School Student Council and others will serve as hosts at the various Hospitality Centers during the three days. Names of these workers will be revealed on or about Friday, August 9.

In order to raise the necessary funds for this project, local citizens are being asked to purchase a $5.00 "BIG WATERMELON" ticket. Some person or firm will get nationwide publicity for yourself or your business since some body will receive the largest melon available, to be shipped to any point in the USA (Alaska, Hawaii excluded), at no additional charge.

Recently the Chamber office received a letter from a man in North Carolina who said that he was told by a passing tourist about the size and quality of melons grown in Hope, Arkansas. This tourist had stopped in the man's home town after having been through Hope and seen and sampled our melons. The North Carolina skeptic wrote for proof of the "BIG" ones.

Multiply this by 1,000 or 1,200 as the case may be and it can be readily seen how much nationwide publicity this would lead to. Your $5.00 contribution can make a lot of favorable impressions for your home town. Fred Ellis, Forest Singleton, Bud Collier and the Chamber office have these tickets for sale.

The committee has been a sponsor of citywide demonstrations at public construction sites for more than three weeks. The demonstrations have resulted in about 800 arrests, the majority for blocking traffic into the sites.

No picketing or arrests were reported this weekend at construction sites.

Wirtz called in Union, Rail Owners

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz called in railroad management and union representatives today in an effort to spark a new round of negotiations on the strike-threatened work rules dispute.

With a nationwide rail tieup in prospect Aug. 29 unless Congress acts or a settlement of the four-year-old jobs dilemma is reached, the Labor Department is keeping the heat on the two sides, trying to propel them toward hard bargaining.

Wirtz offered suggestions "relative to the key issues" Friday night—there has been no public disclosure of their nature—and he and Asst. Secretary James J. Reynolds conferred last weekend with management and union representatives.

Asked Sunday night if any move toward agreement had developed, Reynolds said "not yet, no," but he added, "A very serious attitude has entered into these sessions."

Reynolds said Wirtz' recommendations should serve as "a framework for useful, hard bargaining."

The judge told the proposed jurors that he did not intend to lock them up during the trial unless it is absolutely necessary.

Ford Reportedly Has Girl Friend

NEW YORK (AP)—Two New York City newspapers reported today that Henry Ford II and Italian-born Christina Austin recently have been seen together quite often.

Ford and his wife, Anne, announced this past weekend they have agreed to a separation. They have been married 23 years.

Both the Mirror and World-Telegram and Sun linked Ford and Mrs. Austin.

Ford was not available for comment. He was bound for Europe. Mrs. Austin told the World-Telegram's society editor Joseph X. Dever, "I couldn't talk to him if I wanted to."

Mrs. Ford also was unavailable.

Negroes Call for Public Funds Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—The Civil Rights group which has been demonstrating for more jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans in the construction industry has asked authorities here to investigate "mismanagement of public funds" on projects.

The Greater New York Coordinating Committee for Equal Opportunity made the demand Sunday in telegrams to two of New York City's district attorneys, Frank S. Hogan of Manhattan and Edward S. Silver of Brooklyn.

The committee cited a report last week by the New York State Advisory Committee of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights saying Negroes were denied employment in most building trades here.

The committee has been a sponsor of citywide demonstrations at public construction sites for more than three weeks. The demonstrations have resulted in about 800 arrests, the majority for blocking traffic into the sites.

No picketing or arrests were reported this weekend at construction sites.

Local Man Hurt in Bush Hog Accident

Leonard (Jabbo) Saunders, Gulf Oil Co. driver and salesman, was critically injured late Saturday in a bush-hog accident at his home on old Highway 67, east near Hope City limits.

Mr. Saunders told relatives the bush hog hit a stump and threw him off. The blade barely touched his side and possibly cut a small gash near his eye. It is feared he suffered a broken back and his shoulder is definitely broken. He is scheduled to be transferred to a back specialist sometime today.

He went to the field about 2 p.m. Saturday and his wife found him unconscious at 5 p.m. He apparently had crawled about one quarter of a mile. He had made only one round with the bush hog when the accident happened.

Three Accidents Are Investigated

Officer McCulley said an auto driven by Miss Elise Broach backed into another auto driven by Mrs. Paul Hooten. Damage was very light. A Third and Elm auto driven by David H. Phillmore of San Antonio and Mrs. W. I. Stroud of Washington ran together. Officer Rowe and McCulley reported very little damage and Elbert Smith back into a city-owned truck driven by M. S. Willis. Only grill damage resulted, said Officers Long and McCulley.

Explosions Rip Italian Town

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Three explosions peppered the heart of Bolzano today, just 4 hours after terrorists in the troubled Italian South Tyrol dropped a bomb down a police barracks chimney and gravely injured two prisoners. No one was hurt in the three new blasts.

The dynamitings appeared to signal a new wave of agitation by German-speaking residents of this north Italian Alpine region that was Austrian territory until World War I. Terrorists are demanding greater regional autonomy.

14 Deaths By Accident in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fourteen persons died in traffic accidents in Arkansas over the weekend, sending the state's violent death toll rocketing to 9 for the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Six persons, all Negroes, died late Saturday in a grinding head-on collision near Tamo, 20 miles south of Pine Bluff. Three others died in a crash early Sunday at an intersection near Marion in Crittenden County.

Of the remaining five weekend traffic fatalities two died Sunday, one at Osceola where a Negro pedestrian was killed in a hit and run accident and the other near Mountain Home when a sports car overturned killing its driver.

The other three died Saturday in separate accidents at Marion, Clinton and Jacksonville.

Five persons drowned in the state during the week, four of them Sunday. Two Negro children and the Negro man who attempted to rescue them drowned in a stock pond near Conway Sunday. A Little Rock man died when he dived into Lake Norrell near Benton Saturday night and apparently struck his head on an underwater object, breaking his neck.

Six persons died violent deaths Friday, five as a result of traffic accidents and the other a drowning.

In addition, two Arkansans died as a result of traffic accidents out of the state. A Jacksonville national guardman was killed in Texas and a West Memphis trucker died at Memphis of burns suffered Wednesday when his truck caught fire at Memphis.

Pressure Pumps in Hot Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
High pressure systems continued to pump hot air into Arkansas today and the Weather Bureau forecast a run of 100-degree temperature readings during the next few days.

Isolated thundershowers promised relief in a few areas. Skies were clear and the sun burned down on the state today. Temperatures pushed into the high 80s and low 90s in mid-morning.

Sunday's high was 100 degrees at Fort Smith and most points had readings of 95 to 99 degrees. Sunday night's lows ranged in the 70s with a few high 60-degree readings in the northern hills.

The five day forecast calls for temperatures ranging two to four degrees above normal highs 90 to 95 and normal lows of 67 to 72. Rainfall during the five-day period was expected to total one-fourth to one-half inch.

Cost Puts Russia Out of Moon Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has stepped out of the race to land a man on the moon because it's too costly, Sir Bernard Lovell, noted British astronomer, said today.

In a copyrighted interview with the news magazine, U.S. News & World Report, the director of Britain's Jodrell Bank observatory also said:

"The Russians are making sincere overtures toward cooperation in space. Their prime programs now are to land instruments softly on the moon, and to orbit a space platform manned by an engineer and an astronomer for five to seven days to view the heavens from a space telescope."

Sir Bernard said his information came in a recent trip to the Soviet Union and interviews with the president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

Soviet Group Publicly Snubs Red Chinese

By JOHN RODERICK

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—The Soviet delegation led a mass public snub of the Red Chinese tonight.

They marched from the audience in Hiroshima Peace Park as the head of the Chinese delegation began to speak at the ninth world conference against nuclear bombs.

They were joined by the Indians and by delegates from East European Communist countries, including Yugoslavia.

The group paraded to the front of the arched war memorial to Hiroshima's 240,000 atom bomb dead and stood with heads bowed and their backs to the speaker, Chao Pu-chu, as he denounced the tripartite test ban treaty signed in Moscow today.

The 14 Soviet delegates were led out of the audience by Yuri Zhukov, a commentator for Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper.

The apparently planned affront took the 10,300 participants to the outdoor ceremony in the park by surprise, but did not prevent them from giving Chao repeated applause. Most of the audience was pro-Chinese.

Chao's denunciation of the Soviet Union for signing the treaty followed soon after the conference heard a message from Premier Khrushchev which described the ban as "a brilliant victory" for his policy of peaceful coexistence.

Hope Resident Killed in Ohio Wreck

Lee Mercer, 32, of near Hope, Ark., was killed Sunday night in a one-car accident on Ohio Highway 295 west of Toledo.

Sammie Lee Mercer, 18, of Texarkana, Ark., whom police said was driving, was injured. The Ohio Highway Patrol listed the cause of the wreck as excessive speed. The car hit a bridge rail and careened into a ditch.

The victims' current addresses were listed as Route 3, Delta, Ohio.

Levee Will Protect Okay Cement Plant

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Bids will be opened about mid-September for construction of a $3,000,000 levee to prevent the Ideal Cement Company and Okay (Howard County), Ark., from being flooded by Millwood Reservoir, Army Engineers said today.

"It's cheaper to do that than to buy the plant," an Engineer spokesman said. Without the two- and a half mile protective dikes, the spokesman said, the plant and the small community around it "would be in the reservoir."

Engineers will advertise August 13 for bids, which tentatively are scheduled to be opened September 11.

Test Treaty Approval Is Predicted

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating predicts overwhelming Senate approval for the limited nuclear test ban treaty if Secretary of State Dean Rusk makes it clear that no "under-the-table" deals are involved.

Keating, a New York Republican, said he asked Rusk for assurance that U.S. negotiators have not agreed to a nonaggression pact or increased trade as a price for the agreement being signed today in Moscow.

"If we get a forthright response, and a denial of any under-the-table deals, then I am confident that the Senate will ratify this treaty by an overwhelming vote," Keating said Sunday in a taped radio-television program broadcast in New York.

A two-thirds majority is needed for ratification.

In a speech to the nation July 26, President Kennedy said: "The Moscow talks reached no agreement on any other subject, nor is this treaty conditioned on any other matter."

A Democrat, Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, raised doubts Sunday about the treaty, which would ban tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea.

Thurmond, in a letter to constituents, said Soviet Premier Khrushchev's failure to keep agreements on Cuba, Southeast Asia and other world trouble spots make it questionable whether he can be trusted on the test ban.

But Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who negotiated the treaty, said he does not believe Khrushchev has any tricks up his sleeve in connection with the test ban. But he added in a television interview (NBC-Meet The Press) that the United States must be ready to test at any time in case the Soviets break the agreement.

Even If Right Don't Think Like This One

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima 18 years ago Tuesday. Shortly afterward, Hitler's foreign minister, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, expressed a strange confidence in mankind.

"No one would be so stupid as to start a war now," he said.

His foresight had never been very good. At the time he made the prophecy he was in jail in Germany, soon to be tried and hanged for war crimes.

The bomb which hit the Japanese city had more power than 20,000 tons of TNT. Now the United States has a stockpile equivalent to 35 billion tons of TNT. The Soviets have one equal to at least 20 billion tons.

Arthur T. Hadley, author of "The Nation's Safety and Arms Control," said recently 35 billion tons of TNT explosive power "would fill a string of freight cars stretching from the earth to the moon and back 15 times."

The United States and the Soviet Union, it has been estimated, ought to be able to eliminate about 90 per cent of each other in an all-out war. Last week President Kennedy talked of "100 objects flying through the air at thousands of miles an hour."

This makes the Hiroshima bomb look a little skimpy although it destroyed about 60 per cent of the city, killed about 78,000 people outright, and had a blast effect equivalent to that of all the high explosives which could be carried in a fleet of 2,000 B29s.

Bertrand Russell, British philosopher, suggested last year that bombs might not be the only cause of mortality in a nuclear attack on this country.

He thought a "great many Americans would be killed by other Americans who did not want their shelters over-filled." But, since he's a leader in the "ban-the-bomb" protests, some people may regard him as odd.

After 18 years, the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union haven't come any closer to banning the bomb than a limited agreement, being signed today, to ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere and outer space and under the sea.

This leaves them free to test underground and go on making bombs. Kennedy said this country will continue testing underground. And any signer of the agreement can get out of it on three months' notice.

The agreement ran into trouble as soon as it was announced. France and Red China, determined to make their own nuclear weapons, even if it takes years, won't join the agreement which China calls a "filthy fraud."

When they get their supply built up, perhaps in 10 years, it still will be no match for those of the United States and the Soviet Union.

French President Charles de Gaulle said last week France wouldn't stop trying to build nuclear weapons unless the Soviet Union and this country agree to destroy their nuclear weapons and prohibit their use.

If the nuclear powers are ever willing to destroy their weapons—not likely in this generation—it may take another generation of arguing about the details of checking to prevent cheating.

If they did agree on this, war might come sooner than if they didn't, and for one of the most weird reasons in the whole weird history of the atomic bomb.

All the nuclear powers, present and future, know what a nuclear war could do to each of them.

Therefore, so long as they have nuclear weapons, they may be reluctant to start a war, not because they're brave enough to settle disputes peacefully, but because they're afraid to take a chance.

If all the nuclear powers got rid of their nuclear weapons, then they'd all back with the conventional — although improved — weapons of pre-atomic days.

However, in pre-atomic days there were two world wars. No nation then had to worry it might be annihilated in a few minutes. Even if it lost, most of its people would still be alive. So without nuclear weapons war is less risky and more enticing.

If you can accept this grisly reasoning, then for a long time the world may be safer with nuclear bombs than without them. But to think like this is to think like Von Ribbentrop. Who wants to think like him, even if he was right?

The whites of his eyes rolled back. "What would I want with a partner?"

Linda Ybarra.

She had olive skin, the high cheekbones look which generations of blue-blooded castellanos had bred into her, the eyes and mouth of a flamenco dancer and the pale golden hair of her Catalonian ancestors. These, while attractive, even to my New England notions exotic, did not add up to any breathtaking beauty. The nose was too aquiline, too stubbornly determined. She was breathtaking enough. She was near to becoming a nuisance.

Yet, what could say?

Talk is tinder. One ill-chosen word and all I had worked for, everything I'd put into this, could go up like a torch and down the drain, blown apart like black powder, like a spinning dust devil roaring over these bottoms.

Even to think of it was frightening.

It had looked good, so incredibly simple — really fool-proof when the notion first struck me. All those pieces of land changing hands on the whim of a storm, a turgid wall of brown water!

At least it was safe. Perfectly legal. Hadn't our two governments, tired of continual bickering and bloodshed, at last come to terms and settled by treaty the fate of these chunks of chopped-off ground, these "cut-offs" or bancos as the Boundary Commission called them?

That was 18 months ago, 1905, as who should know better than myself, Bancroft Benson, 27 last May, an accomplished geologist who, startled by a glimpse of the great Main Chance, had a good many moons ago — two floods, as time is measured on the River — quit his underpaid job with the Topographical Survey to sweat here in leisure while frustratedly waiting for the Rio Grande to make his fortune.

If this sounds a bit steamed up, consider the relevant facts. From El Paso to Boca Chica I had followed the river's hundreds of twists and meanderings with the assiduous persistence of a starving gnat. Such dogged perseverance had been bound to turn up something. The trick, of course, had been to find the right levels and a piece of ground with enough improvements to be worth the bother.

Well, I found it. Seven hundred and some odd acres of prospective banco, replete with holdings worth an Inca's ransom, and all in the hands of a senile old rooster who had no more sense than a one-legged woodchuck. A principality, no less — the Hacienda Villalobos, white walls and red tiles, the pink bell tower of the church with its cross gleaming through the lace of wind-tossed branches, the lush green of irrigated peon-worked fields standing out like new-sown patches against the lemon range. All this — and no telling how many hun-

THANKS FROM SHRINERS

Editor The Star:
In behalf of the Millwood Shrine Club and the entire Scimitar Temple I want to thank you and the entire Hope Star Staff for the very excellent publicity given the Shrine, both preceding and following our Ceremonial on July 27. We were accepted very cordially by the entire city. Much of this was due to the editorials, the news prints and the pictures. Potentate Ellis Fagan and his entire Staff continued to brag upon the hearty welcome we were given and the publicity we had received. This was in contrast to the last Ceremonial he had attended two or three weeks ago in the northern part of the State.

Sincerely yours,

Some of my excitement likely showed in my grin. "If you're not interested," I said, "I can probably find someone who is."

I hadn't taken three steps when he caught my arm. The strength of his grip was astonishing. With no effort at all he spun me about. I went slamming into a hide-bolted chair.

He looked confused, enraged, glowering over me like some chest-thumping ape. With surprise and alarm it came into my thinking this fellow could be dangerous. I pushed it aside. He was so eager to be persuaded it was almost laughable. His sort of tartie wolf was just what I needed.

"I can get that place—" "Villalobos?"

"The closest chunk of it," I nodded. "Something over 700 acres, and it isn't going to cost either one of us a dime."

He wasn't convinced, but it was evident enough he wanted to be. It stood out all over him. In the spraddle of his legs, in the huge locked lumps of those murderous fists, in the fierceness leaping from the glitter of his stare.

He made an effort to get hold of himself, moving back. "Talk's cheap," he snarled, irritably rasping both hands across his pantslegs. "Man don't cut up that kinda pumpkin without he's got hisself into a bind. If you ain't just yappin', you got good reason—"

"Of course I've got a reason." He said accusingly: "You need help!"

I let go of my jaw in a pretense of astonishment. This might be a lot simpler than the various components would seem to figure up to. Feller like this could be led with a piece of spiderweb.

Now he growled, eyes bright with suspicion: "I won't hev no part in layin' hold of that skirt!"

"Ransom?" I laughed.

"Well, I don't want no run-in with them Rurales, neither." I couldn't help grinning. It wasn't often I encountered a brain so transparently primitive. I said, "The Mexican police won't come into this at all."

He looked at me and sneered. "Mebbe you think he'll wrap a pink ribbon round it!" He spat with a look of colossal scorn. "Mister, you're ready for a string of spoils if yer fingerin' that old mossyhorn! Just up an' move!"

"If we play our cards right I can't see that he'll have much choice."

With his scowl turning darker he worked that through his head for a spell. "Then it's got to be the girl." His stone-age face broke into a grin. "You want my place so's you can strike up an acquaintance—"

I said sharper than good sense allowed: "I'm not the marryin' kind, you fool!"

He stomped around. He came back, looking ugly. "Put it on the line where I kin see it!"

Group Pickets Negro College at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Twenty-five anti-segregation demonstrators picketed a new vocational arts building at Arkansas AM&N College for Negroes at Pine Bluff Sunday during dedication ceremonies in which Gov. Orval E. Faubus delivered the dedicatory address.

The group, composed of 24 Negroes and one white man, bogged Faubus as he emerged from the building at the end of the ceremonies.

The demonstration started shortly after dedication ceremonies in the $304,710 structure had begun. The group paraded up and down the street in front of the building. They carried signs and placards which bore such slogans as: "Emancipation Then (1863), Freedom Now (1963)," "Gov. Faubus, would you send your child to this school?" "Stop throwing us crumbs, we want the cake."

The group was led by Robert Whitfield, president of the Pine Bluff Movement, an anti-segregation organization. The white man in the group was not identified.

The demonstrators passed out leaflets which charged Faubus with trying to build an empire to further his own interests and of trying to create the image that beautiful buildings meant excellent education. The literature called him a demagogue.

The demonstrators marched silently.

State and local police stood by during the 45-minute demonstration and police cars patrolled the streets around the campus. There were no incidents and the demonstration ended after Faubus left.

Race Violence in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Sixteen persons, including several teenagers, were arrested Sunday night as racial turmoil on the city's South Side went into its second week.

The disturbances have centered around 57th and Morgan Streets, where three Negro families have moved into a predominantly white neighborhood.

Faubus smiled at the demonstrators and the crowd as he drove away.

During his address Faubus told the audience of the need for more education facilities to meet the needs of a technical age. He said education was necessary for all citizens.

Space Team to Start New Tests

Three of the original Project Mercury astronaut — D. K. (Deke) Slayton, in charge of astronaut affairs, L. Gordon Cooper and Alan B. Shepard Jr. — are with the nine new astronaut trainees.

Cooper and Shepard will take the classroom part of the survival training at Stead, north of Reno, again.

Their training, to equip them should they have to land in the desert, lasts through Friday.

Police said Sunday night's crowd was somewhat smaller than those that gathered nightly during the previous weeks but yells, curses, fireworks and brick-throwing continued.

Those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct.

Parents, Son, Daughter in Triple Rites

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Whitehurst, their son and their daughter were married in a triple wedding Sunday.

The Whitehursts remarried to comply with a 1941 Arkansas law which rules invalid any marriage in which the groom was less than 18 or the bride less than 16.

The daughter, Bethel, married Amos Spencer, 21, of Oklahoma City, and the son, Herschel, 18, wed Dorothy Mayes.

The family wedding idea started when the Social Security Administration put a spotlight on the long-ignored 1941 law by ruling that it would deny widow's benefits to any wife whose wedding was not legal under it.

The announcement touched off a wave of remarriages in Arkansas and the Whitehursts decided to tie the knot again. Bethel already had set Aug. 4 as her wedding date. The Whitehursts talked to Herschel, who was scheduled to be married in September, into joining them.

Sunday's ceremony was performed by Rev. Y. B. Whitehurst, father of Harmon Whitehurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitehurst repeated their wedding vows first. The younger couples then were married in a standard double wedding.

Informant to Tell All About Crime

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is confident that an underworld figure it says has given federal agents a detailed description of the dominant crime organization in the United States will live to tell his story to Senate investigators.

In a secret hideout FBI agents are guarding Joseph Valachi, a 60-year-old New Yorker once fairly high in the mob hierarchy, who has outlined the structure of the terror-ridden "Cosa Nostra" and put the finger on some top racketeers already under investigation.

Valachi has a date with Sen. John L. McClellan's Senate Investigations subcommittee when it resumes its inquiry into illegal narcotics traffic.

The McClellan panel began its probe of narcotics three years ago, then turned to the Billie Sol Estes investigation and the TFX warplane contract award. No date has been set for the resumption of its hearings, but McClellan, an Arkansas Democrat, said Sunday he expects Valachi to be a witness.

The government considers Valachi's account of crime in America—including an inside view of the celebrated November 1957 mobsters' convention at Apalachin, N.Y.—an important intelligence breakthrough.

His story has been corroborated by other sources and investigations, and information he gave federal agents has been passed on to local authorities, Edwin O. Guthman, Justice Department public information director said.

The theory of a secret society at the hub of organized U.S. crime has been supported for many years by the Federal Bureau of Narcotics. Valachi provided a blueprint of the "Cosa Nostra"—literally meaning "Our Thing"—but sometimes called the syndicate—and confirmation that such an organization of criminals exists.

The story of the Valachi breakthrough appeared Sunday in a copyrighted story in the Washington Star. The Justice Department confirmed the essentials.

At the head of "Cosa Nostra" Valachi placed Vito Genovese, 66-year-old Italian-born narcotics boss serving a 15-year sentence at Atlanta Penitentiary.

Genovese plotted the Apalachin meeting. While Valachi was not prominent enough to attend, he was high enough in the organization to know what went on—and for a time later, he was Genovese's cellmate in Atlanta.

Construction already has begun, he said, on the new building and the additions.

Direct distance dialing already is available at Pine Bluff, Jonesboro, Forrest City, West Memphis, Magnolia, Rogers, Blytheville and Brinkley.

BROTHER AND SISTER IN CONFLICT

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My brother and I love each other but still keep hurting one another. I am 16, he 15. I readily admit the jealousy between us.

He's smart, makes the honor roll at school without much studying. I make the honor roll too, through hard work.

He is popular but likes only certain people. I don't care to mix with others as much as he does, preferring to work at my hobbies: music and writing. People think me shy but I get along all right.

Manners are important to me. My brother embarrasses me by his show-off attitude at church school, forever creating a disturbance to attract attention.

If I don't agree with what Brother wants me to do, he'll hit me. He thinks I'm bossy. Why do we always seem at cross purposes? How can I bring about a more peaceful relationship between us?

Sister: Dear Sister: Just keep on breathing, Sister, and the steady march of days, weeks, months and years will bring about the more peaceful relationship you crave. I've never read a better account of brother-sister rivalry and conflict. It's as normal as apple pie.

Some day you will look back on this great struggle as one of the comical aspects of your past. He's the perfect specimen of that baffling phase called Age Fifteen—battling, ready, unpredictable, resentful of authority, scornful of sisterly example, full of thunder and threat, able in school, but not willing to work to his limits, a pest in such permissive groups as a Sunday School class, and just pleased as Punch to find an opportunity to embarrass, bully, and remind you in general of Ivan the Terrible.

I'd be willing to stake my crystal ball that he'll be a charming, affectionate and appreciative brother when he gropes his way through the agonies of the middle teens and finds himself. He will be proud of your honor roll ability, thankful that you are competent in music and writing, remorseful (a little bit) about having treated you so badly, and anxious to help when you're in need of help.

I know it all sounds impossible now, but take heart, and remember many of the most respectable fathers in your community were Peck's Bad Boys in their middle teens. If time didn't change such "characters," we'd all be in the stew with you.

Dear Helen: We are two very worried teens. Our best friend dates a boy without her parents' permission. He's nothing but a bum.

That's the kind she used to travel with—a whole pack of no-goods. This was before we knew her. She's a different girl now, goes to church and all that. But we're afraid she'll change for the worse if she continues to date this boy secretly. When she's with him she tells her parents she's at our homes and that has us worried. Should we tell her parents the truth?—The Worried Friends

Dear Worried Friends: Make it quite clear to your friend that you will no longer play a part in her secret. When she's with him she deception of parents. I don't think it's up to you to inform them of her secret dates. But you should present a firm and united front against her using you as a cover up. My leaflet, "Firm Friends," will clarify her thinking. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

Dear Helen: I enjoy your column and find my heart going out to you and all those people who turn to you for help. Thank you for trying. But my goodness! Who do you have to turn to when you feel lonely and down? Good luck always!—Mrs. Robert Hausman, San Jose, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Hausman: Thank you

Henry Ford, Wife Agree to Separation

DETROIT (AP) — The divided family of Henry Ford II and his wife, Anne, have agreed to a separation—was in apparent conclusion today.

Aside from the brief separation announcement that stunned the social world over the weekend, the Fords made no statement. Efforts to reach them were unavailing.

The Fords, married 23 years, announced the separation through counsel, saying they had agreed upon a "legal separation" and had entered into the "usual form of separation agreement."

A man answering the telephone Sunday at the couple's lavish home in suburban Grosse Pointe Farms said Ford was out of the city and not expected to return for three weeks.

Mrs. Ford was reported at another Ford home at Watermill, Southampton, L.I., New York.

Social circles speculated that Ford, 45, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., will continue to live in the Detroit area and Mrs. Ford, 44, will make her home at Southampton with their three children—Charlotte, 22; Anne, 19, and Edsel, 14. The Ford Co. headquarters is in suburban Dearborn.

Anne McDonnell, member of a socially prominent Long Island family, and Ford were married in the Roman Catholic faith at Southampton in 1940.

Ford, a Methodist by rearing, adopted Catholicism. Henry II, a son of the late Edsel Ford, only child of the first Henry Ford, has two brothers, Benson and William Clay Ford. Both are married.

The Roman Catholic Church does not recognize divorce. A Catholic clergyman said a separation is permitted when the couple finds it impossible to go on with a common life.

Sunday after a crowd of about 200 white youths gathered downtown. One was charged with carrying a deadly weapon—a length of chain—the others with disorderly conduct.

East Germans Gun Down Man

GOSLAR, Germany (AP) - While hundreds of horrified tourists watched helplessly from West Germany, East German guards mowed down an elderly man with submachinegun bullets Thursday as he tried to escape to the West with a woman.

The woman was stopped by the first burst of fire and was led away, apparently wounded.

The man, hit in the leg, limped on toward the border but the guards killed him with a second burst.

The tourists, among them Swedes and Danes, were inspecting the barbed wire and barricades. After a stunned silence many cried in rage: "Murderers!" "Bandits!" Some hurled stones in the direction of the border guards.

"Shut your traps!" one East German officer shouted. The tourists responded with a fresh hail of stones.

Not until two hours later did the Communists remove the body of the man from the weeds, only a few yards from freedom.

Links Rail Strike to Bad Economy

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. testified today a nationwide rail strike would touch off an economic epidemic which would infect industry after industry and leave millions jobless.

Roosevelt told the House Commerce Committee the prospect underlines what he called the great urgency for congressional approval of President Kennedy's plan to turn the strike-threatening railroad work rules dispute over to the Interstate Commerce Commission for two years.

A month-long strike would throw 6.5 million Americans out of work, boosting the unemployment rate to 15 per cent, Roosevelt said.

He estimated it would mean a 13 per cent drop in the gross national product, and could cost the nation $25 billion or more.

Roosevelt said most industries have a week's supply of materials on hand.

But after a week, he said, "the economic costs of the strike would surge upward at a rapidly accelerating rate as more and more industries exhausted their stocks and their income bottlenecks for their customer industries."

"The effects would spread like an epidemic," Roosevelt said.

Even a short strike would touch off "a traffic catastrophe" in big cities that depend on commuter trains, he said, and would force some factories to close down at once.

He said the coal industry would face an immediate shutdown, and that would halt exports and worsen the balance of payments problem.

Roosevelt said the Pentagon estimates 30 per cent of the defense shipments it normally sends by rail could not be switched to other carriers. He said that alone "justifies swift and favorable response by the Congress."

Sees Rights and Tax Cut Legislation

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Republican leader, Charles A. Halleck, predicts a tax reduction-revision bill and some sort of civil rights legislation will be passed by the House. But he foresees stiff opposition in the Senate.

"The Indianan gave this forecast Sunday in a televised interview (NBC-Sunday Report). His somewhat optimistic prediction for the fate of the two measures in the House—given top priority by the Democratic administration—is contrary to the GOP leader's earlier views."

This week, congressional committees may start making major decisions on tax cuts and civil rights. But it remains highly uncertain when they will reach the floor of the House or Senate for debate.

The House Ways and Means Committee took a series of votes on the tax legislation last week and may reach the most important question—reduced rate schedules—in the next few days.

President Kennedy recommended a net cut of about $10.2 billion to be reached in stages. Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., a member of the committee, said Sunday in an interview on New York television stations, "The Most we are probably talking about is a $7-billion or $8-billion cut, net."

The Senate Commerce Committee completed its public hearings last Friday on one of the most important sections in the civil rights package—a ban on discrimination in public accommodations. It may start deliberations on the measure during the week.

Tuesday or Wednesday, the House will take up a bill to increase sharply the government's outlays for vocational education. The first of Kennedy's aid to education proposals to reach either floor, it has bipartisan support but may run into trouble because of a drive by some Republicans to attach an antidiscrimination amendment.

Later in the week the House will debate a bill to extend the $309-billion debt ceiling until Nov. 30. The Senate will consider on

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH
Associated Press Staff Writer

John C. Stevens, 43, of Fordyce, took his side of the family dispute to the public when his 31-year-old wife filed suit for divorce. He plastered the front of his house and both sides of his car with signs giving his views on the disagreement.

Because some of the signs mentioned a nearby restaurant where Mrs. Stevens works as a waitress, Dallas County Sheriff J. Clay Atkinson conferred with the restaurant owner, then walked across the street to Stevens' house. He returned, leaving the signs undisturbed.

"Aren't you going to make him take 'down the signs'?" asked someone in the small crowd that had gathered.

Atkinson said he wasn't. The restaurant owner had heard Stevens planned to change the signs daily, the sheriff said, and "He asked me to take Stevens some more batcher paper."

Suggie, a six-year-old rat terrier belonging to Mrs. Smith Cole of Russellville, suffered a mother's pangs when she had to leave Newark, where she had adopted eight baby chicks while Mrs. Cole was visiting her son.

In order to soften the blow of separation, the Cole family mixed the chicks in with 14 others. But Suggie was equal to the occasion. She snuffled in among the 22 and rounded up her eight without hesitation.

Arnold Hicks of West Memphis wanted to cause the West Memphis Fire Department as little trouble as possible, so he took the first to them.

Firemen said that when a cigarette spark ignited the front seat of Hick's car, he drove calmly to the station and requested that they put out the fire. The car suffered only minor damage.

Those blooming sweet potato vines at the W. M. Gossett Farm at Mayflower are doing just that—a quarter-acre of them.

"It's most unusual for Arkansas," Asst. Faulkner County Agent Jim Moffett said. The blossoms are reddish purple.

Roscoe Williamson, who gardens as a hobby at his farm on Highway 270 between Hot Springs and Mt. Ida, reports a sunflower 14-feet tall with a blossom approximately one foot in diameter. He said he also had a cucumber a foot in length and weighing three-quarters of a pound.

The Eugene Robertsons planted an orange tree seedling two and a half years ago at their home in Russellville. They say the major citrus-producing states are in no danger yet, but their eight-foot high tree bloomed for the first time this year, producing 35 tiny green oranges.

It was almost a Tom Swifto, that headline in the West Memphis Evening Times: "Motorscooter Hits Marion Child; Injuries Minor."

Mantle Returns as Pinch Hitter and Hits Homer

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The proud, haughty New York Yankees were in serious danger of looking like an ordinary ball club.

But then the Big One stepped in just long enough to swing the bat once, and they were the Yankees again.

The Yanks' oft-injured superstar, Mickey Mantle, making his first appearance in a Yankee game since he broke a bone in his left foot June 5, cracked a dramatic pinch-hit home run into the left field bleachers, pulling the Yankees from behind and aiming them toward an 11-10 victory.

The Yanks had lost the first game of a doubleheader 7-2, their two starting pitchers had been bombed out and the Baltimore Orioles, helped along by five unearned runs, had a 10-9 lead in the second game.

Mantle, to a wild ovation from the Yankee Stadium crowd of 38,555, stepped in the seventh. Bating right-handed against the left-handed George Brunet, he lined the second pitch into the left field bleachers.

The Yanks won it in the 10th on Yogi Berra's sacrifice fly.

Second-place Chicago inched to within seven games of the leading Yankees on an 8-1 romp over Los Angeles. Kansas City beat Minnesota 6-2, Washington stopped Boston 7-5 and Detroit and Cleveland split a pair, the Tigers taking the first 2-0 and the Indians the nightcap 3-2.

In the National League, the leading Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Houston 4-0. San Francisco took over second by edging Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings while Philadelphia swept two from St. Louis, 7-3 and 5-2. Cincinnati won two from Pittsburgh, 5-2 and 4-1, and Milwaukee beat the New York Mets 2-1.

Mantle, who had missed 61 games since his injury in Baltimore, said the ovation when he came from the dugout "actually chilled me. I could feel the bumps rising on my arms. I was shaking. I told myself, 'I'll settle for a single.'"

The homer was his 12th of the season.

Brooks Robinson had a homer for the Orioles, and Elston Howard connected for the Yankees.

Home runs by winning pitcher Steve Barber, John Powell and John Orsino made it easy for the Orioles to win the opener.

The White Sox closed up a half game as Camilo Carreon drove in three runs on a double and a single and scored another against the Angels.

Hank Aguirre tossed a sparkling two-hitter in Detroit's easy first-game victory against the Indians, and rookie, Mickey Lolich had another shutout until the Indians erupted for their three runs in the ninth and gained a split.

Baseball to Place 4 in Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Two outfielders and two pitchers who thrilled diamond fans half a century and more ago were to be formally inducted today into baseball's Hall of Fame. Two were being honored posthumously.

Honored were Sam Rice, 71, outstanding outfielder with Washington and Cleveland; Elmer Flick, 87, winner of the American League batting title at Cleveland in 1905; John Clarkson and Eppa Rixey, pitchers.

Clarkson, a right-hander who won 483 games from 1882 through 1894 in the National League, died in 1900. Rixey, a towering left-hander who won 266 games for Philadelphia and Cincinnati from 1912 through 1933, died last Feb. 28, a month after learning of his latest honor.

Presentation ceremonies were to be held at the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum at 9 a.m. EST, followed immediately by a luncheon and an exhibition game at Doubleday Field between the Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox.

Rice, who had a lifetime batting average of .322, was on hand to receive his bronze plaque in person. Flick, who batted .315 for 13 seasons, was doubtful whether he could attend.

Whitmore replaces Childre as president of the firms and Shine replaces Samuels as secretary-treasurer.

Miss Wright Not Ready to Quit Golf

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mickey Wright, the top money winner on the women's pro golf tour for three years, isn't ready to relinquish her crown but Kathy Whitworth is waiting in the wings.

Miss Whitworth, scored her second victory within a week by winning the $12,500 Milwaukee Women's Open Sunday at the North Shore Country Club.

Following up her triumph in the Wolverine Open last Monday, the 24-year-old Miss Whitworth buried her closest challengers with a closing round of two-under-par 70 for a total of 286 in the 72-hole tournament.

Miss Wright had to settle for a 72 and a total of 289 in a ninth place finish. She raised her earnings for the year to $15,212.

Miss Whitworth picked up $2,000 to boost her prize money to $12,750.

Miss Whitworth started the final round with a two-stroke lead and applied the pressure, winning going away. She finished seven strokes ahead of Louise Suggs and Jackie Pung, who shared runnerup money of $1,350.

Pro Football Picture May Be Changed

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Exhibition games don't count in the standings but the electrifying victory of the College All-Stars over the great Green Bay Packers and the surprising results in the first American Football League tuneups may have a bearing on the pro championships.

The 20-17 triumph of Otto Graham's rookies over the National Football League champions at Chicago on Friday night removed the Packers' aura of invincibility. No team has won three straight championships since the NFL started its playoff system in 1933 and the Packers may be in for lots of trouble in their bid.

In the AFL, the three hot-shot teams were whipped in the exhibition openers on Saturday and Sunday. San Diego's Chargers thumped the champion Kansas City Chiefs 26-14 and Denver walloped the Houston Oilers, Eastern Division champions, 27-14 Saturday.

The Oakland Raiders, who finished last in the West with a 1-13 record last year, topped the Boston Patriots, runners-up in the East, 24-17 at Oakland on Sunday. The exhibitions go full blast in the coming week with six NFL and four AFL contests.

San Diego's victory proved costly. The Chargers lost Tobin Rote, their newly acquired No. 1 quarter back, on the second play.

Rote, an NFL and Canadian league veteran, suffered a torn rib and bruised breastbone and is expected to be out of action for two or three weeks.

John Hadl, available only on weekends from the Air Force until Oct. 11, came off the bench and threw touchdown passes of two and 16 yards. Paul Lowe, one of the Chargers' cripples of '62, ran three and 65 yards for the other touchdowns.

Rookie quarterback Mickey Slaughter threw two touchdown passes. George Shaw connected on another and Gene Mingo booted field goals of 44 and 41 yards in Denver's win over Houston.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ed Lopat's contract as manager of the Kansas City Athletics has been extended through the 1965 season. Lopat became manager last fall under a two-year contract.

General Manager Pat Friday asked Lopat Sunday if he would like to sign for an additional year.

Salary terms were not disclosed.

Los Angeles left-hander Johnny Podres, a sore-backed pitcher who produced a spine-tingler, kept his cool in a turnover going with the aid of baseball's newest weapon—oxygen.

Fighting in Houston's sweltering heat Sunday night, Podres took a few whiffs as he set the Colts down until Johnny Temple led off the ninth inning with a sharp single.

Podres then hit Bob Aspromonte with a punch and was relieved by Larry Sherry, who preserved the 4-0 triumph.

The defeat, Craig's 18th in succession, matched the mark established by Cliff Curtis of Boston in 1910, and made him the 13th pitcher in major league history to lose
